THE GRAND JURY CHARGES:

Introductory Allegations

At times material to this Indictment:

1. From in or about July 2012 through in or about August 2015, Defendants ROBERT M. BOSTON and ROBERT S. LABARGE defrauded franchisees, investors, and lenders of their company, ZLOOP. In addition to deceiving their victims through false and misleading franchise and securities offering documents, Defendants falsified documents to perpetuate their fraud. Through their fraud, Defendants obtained millions of dollars, much of which they spent on expensive personal real estate, a private plane, and the racing career of ROBERT M. BOSTON's son.

2. ZLOOP, Inc. ("ZLOOP" or the "Company") was a Delaware corporation with its headquarters and principal place of business in Hickory, North Carolina. ZLOOP was an electronic waste recycling company. Originally founded as a limited liability company in 2012, ZLOOP converted to a corporation in or about 2014.

3. DEFENDANT ROBERT M. BOSTON was one of the two principal founders of ZLOOP. He served as ZLOOP's Chief Executive Officer and as a director of ZLOOP.

4. DEFENDANT ROBERT S. LABARGE was one of the two principal founders of ZLOOP. He served as ZLOOP's Chief Marketing Officer and as a director of ZLOOP.

5. LABARGE and BOSTON controlled the day-to-day activities of ZLOOP.

6. Victim 1 was an individual residing in Louisiana.

7. Patriot Bank was a federally insured financial institution based in Texas.

The Franchise Misstatements and Omissions

8. In or about July 2012, shortly after its founding, ZLOOP began marketing franchise opportunities. On or about July 23, 2012, ZLOOP issued a press release announcing its franchise offerings, stating that it “anticipate[d] the opening of more than 100 franchises nationwide within the coming year and more than 455 by 2015.”

9. Federal law requires a potential franchisor to provide a prospective franchisee with a franchise disclosure document. Under Item 3 of the franchise disclosure document, the franchisor must disclose certain litigation matters, including whether, in the 10-year period immediately before the disclosure document’s issuance date, any director, trustee, general partner, principal officer, or any other person with management responsibility relating to the sale and operation of franchises had been held liable in a civil action involving allegations of fraud, unfair or deceptive practices, or comparable allegations.

10. Under Item 4 of the franchise disclosure document, the franchisor must disclose whether any officer or any other individual who had management responsibility relating to the sale and operation of franchises had filed bankruptcy or been a principal officer of a company that had a bankruptcy petition filed against it.

11. In or about 2012, BOSTON and LABARGE offered to sell ZLOOP franchises using franchise disclosure documents which failed to disclose the following facts:

- a. In or about July 2008, an involuntary bankruptcy petition was filed against BOSTON’s former company, D.B. Concrete Construction, Inc. (“D.B. Concrete”) and this bankruptcy was still pending as of 2012;
- b. In or about July 2010, BOSTON filed for personal bankruptcy; and
- c. In or about April 2011, BOSTON was held liable in a civil action filed by a lender alleging that BOSTON “intentionally caused D.B. Concrete, through his direct actions, (i) to submit knowing[ly] false financial documentation to [the lender] in order to obtain a line of credit of $2.9 Million and to draw down on said line of credit and (ii) to engage in fraudulent check-writing activities that resulted in a negative balance in D.B. Concrete’s business account with [the lender].”

12. Rather than disclosing material information as required, the ZLOOP franchise disclosure document falsely stated under Item 3, “There is no litigation that must be disclosed in this document.” Moreover, in versions of the ZLOOP franchise disclosure document provided to prospective franchisees, Defendants deleted Item 4 (Bankruptcy) entirely.

13. Using fraudulent versions of the ZLOOP franchise disclosure document, BOSTON and LABARGE offered to sell ZLOOP franchises to prospective franchisees, and did sell ZLOOP franchises to franchisees, including Victim 1 and others.

14. On or about October 30, 2012, Victim 1 wired approximately $2,989,179 to ZLOOP, in part for the purchase of ZLOOP franchises. Approximately three days later, ZLOOP transferred about $421,732.55 in a related party transaction, namely to pay for a condominium for BOSTON.

15. Shortly after Victim 1 purchased franchises from ZLOOP, Victim 1 also provided a loan to the Company. On or about December 17, 2012, Victim 1 and BOSTON signed a promissory note reflecting this loan.

16. On or about December 18, 2012, Victim 1 wired $1,700,000 to ZLOOP's account pursuant to the loan. Rather than spending the loan proceeds exclusively on Company business, approximately one day later, ZLOOP transferred about $818,626.99 in a related party transaction, namely to pay for a lakehouse for LABARGE.

17. On or about January 3, 2013, Victim 1 wired $1,800,000 to ZLOOP's account pursuant to the loan. Rather than spending the loan proceeds exclusively on Company business, approximately one day later, ZLOOP transferred about $323,944.50 in a related party transaction, namely to pay for a condominium for BOSTON.

The Fraudulent Private Placement Memo

18. In or about December 2012, ZLOOP began preparing a private placement memorandum. The ZLOOP private placement memorandum was used to offer ZLOOP securities to potential investors.

19. Versions of the ZLOOP private placement memo (the "ZLOOP PPM") that BOSTON and LABARGE caused to be sent to potential investors omitted material information. For example, these versions of the ZLOOP PPM touted BOSTON's business acumen but failed to disclose the information set forth in subparagraphs 11(a) through 11(c) of this Superseding Bill of Indictment. Similarly, these versions of the ZLOOP PPM disclosed certain related party transactions but failed to disclose the related party transactions described in paragraphs 14, 16, and 17. These half-truths and omissions caused the ZLOOP PPM to be materially misleading.

20. Versions of the ZLOOP PPM that BOSTON and LABARGE caused to be sent to potential investors stated that ZLOOP was offering up to $10,000,000 of equity in the Company. On or about March 21 and 22, 2013, investors wired more than $2,000,000 to ZLOOP's account, much of which BOSTON immediately spent on March 22, 2013. The Company never raised $10,000,000 under the ZLOOP PPM, however, and in or about the middle of 2013, investors in ZLOOP asked BOSTON and LABARGE for their money back.

21. To repay its other investors, ZLOOP sought another loan from Victim 1. While doing so, BOSTON and LABARGE sent falsified documents to J.J., an associate of Victim 1.

22. On or about October 7, 2013, Victim 1 wired $3,000,000 to ZLOOP. On the same day, ZLOOP wired approximately $2,562,575.34 to repay the investors who had purchased equity in ZLOOP under the misleading ZLOOP PPM.

The Patriot Bank Line of Credit

23. In addition to the funds identified above, on or about December 17, 2013, Patriot Bank provided a $5,000,000 line of credit to ZLOOP secured by Victim 1.

24. BOSTON and LABARGE signed a bank document stating that the specific purpose of this line of credit was "WORKNG [sic] CAPITAL FOR NEW BUSINESS LOCATION."

25. On or about December 19, 2013, BOSTON caused ZLOOP to draw down approximately $3,500,000 from the Patriot Bank line of credit. Rather than using the proceeds exclusively for a new business location, BOSTON and LABARGE used the proceeds in part as follows:

- a. On or about December 23, 2013, BOSTON spent approximately $70,583.02 of ZLOOP's funds to purchase a 2014 Chevrolet Corvette.
- b. On or about December 26, 2013, LABARGE spent approximately $85,202.65 of ZLOOP's funds to purchase a 2014 Jeep Grand Cherokee for himself and a 2014 Chrysler Town and Country for his wife.
- c. On or about December 27, 2013, BOSTON wired approximately $32,000 of ZLOOP's funds to a luxury watch seller.
- d. On or about January 8, 2014, LABARGE wired approximately $425,000 of ZLOOP's funds to purchase a Beechcraft King Air airplane titled in the name of The Hooch House, LLC, a company controlled by BOSTON and LABARGE.

26. On March 21, 2014, LABARGE emailed ZLOOP's financial advisors, copying BOSTON, and wrote, in part,

We want to raise our LOC [line of credit] another $8M [million] to get accomplish [sic] the following :

Order processing equipment for compressors and electric motors in Hickory, NC in order to meet our contractual obligations

Purchase Reno property attached (offer has been made)

Order processing equipment for Reno Plant

2 tractors to pull our trailers (one in Hickory, the other in Reno)

6 months working capital for both plants

On or about the same day, BOSTON forwarded this email to J.J., representing that these uses were the rationale for the increase in the line of credit.

27. On or about April 29, 2014, at ZLOOP's request, Patriot Bank increased the amount available under the line of credit to $14,000,000. Like the original line of credit, Victim 1 agreed to secure this increase in the line of credit.

28. On or about May 2, 2014, Patriot Bank released approximately $1,300,000 from the line of credit to ZLOOP. Rather than spending these funds in the manner promised in LABARGE's March 21, 2014 email, ZLOOP immediately spent more than $500,000 on racing-related expenditures, and approximately $79,808 on a suite at a professional football stadium.

29. On or about October 3, 2014, Victim 1 bought the Patriot Bank line of credit that he had agreed to secure. At that time, ZLOOP owed principal of approximately $13,987,500 on the Patriot Bank line of credit.
